"While it is true that many thousands of people travel for business, leisure and work related purposes within the UK and worldwide without incident there is a small percentage of people that do experience considerable threat and risk. In recent years there have been significant changes to the geopolitical landscape. Places that were safe are now no longer safe for a variety of reasons..."

"In any situation, the best defence is found in knowing the threats and mitigating the risks, as an attacker only needs to identify a single point of vulnerability ... your security's weakest link."

"Can you afford to leave yourself exposed to this risk?"

Damien Heim

ARES Risk Management Limited is an elite security risk management and intelligence gathering consultancy, which specialises in providing tailored security risk management solutions to our clients.

Our approach to Security is based on the premise that tailored solutions are the best solutions!

We, therefore, take the time to get to know you, your business and your working environment; and travel needs to ensure that our solutions provide with high impact services which reflect good value for your investment.

Our solutions incorporate resilience contingency planning for business continuity. Securing the improved overall performance our client companies is a fundamental aspect of our business. We achieve this by adopting modern approaches to Security Risk Management.

We are entrepreneurial and innovative! This ensures that our strategic solutions align with the core of your business objectives; thereby enabling your business rather than hindering it. We do this by placing emphasis on pro-active thinking which will reduce costs in the longer term, by blending innovative and traditional security risk management practices in proportion to one another and in tandem.

We are dynamic and forward-thinking and at the cutting edge of modern security risk management. We are one of the first convergent security risk management companies in the UK. Our physical and cyber risk divisions work together to minimise your overall risk. We believe that the security risk function should and can have a positive impact on the company bottom line! This can be achieved if the security risk strategy is designed to converge and align with the core business objectives of the company enabling business as a whole.

As part of our service provision to corporate customers, we provide a range of safety and security training seminars. We believe that "knowledge is power" and are committed to supporting the enhancement of your overall safety and security by providing training to you and your staff as part of our service.

Overview of Need

There are numerous scenarios across many businesses and industry sectors which require companies to exercise a duty of care for their staff. From the basic and statutory need for robust health and safety policies and procedures, to the safety and security of staff and infrastructure; which is achieved in many different ways based on the nature of the business and industry sector.

Yet every member of the workforce from the CEO, through all the layers of executives and managers to front-line staff, all travel daily!

In today's complex business and commercial environment, many executives are increasingly required to travel to medium or high-risk areas to conduct critical business transactions; which can require a professional close protection capability. However, there are also many businesses and business situations where such a capability cannot be justified. It is for those times, that our Security Risk Management Consultants working closely with our Close Protection Operators have designed and developed Ares Travel Safe.

Taking our Travel Safe Training or providing it for your staff will help to mitigate a range of risks associated with business travel both within the UK and abroad.

Overview of the Course

The objectives of Ares Travel Safe Training is to raise awareness of the everyday threats which could pose potential risks to staff especially critical staff and your executives; and which in turn could have an negative impact on your business.

The training is delivered as a half-day seminar and divided into two parts

- Domestic: risks within the UK
- International: risks when travelling abroad.

The scenarios address in the training as part of education and awareness include:

- Accidents
- Criminal Threats
- Acts of Terrorism

The training will provide:

- Guidance and advice on seating on public and private transport including planes, trains, buses and cars
- Car parking / car-jacking
- Provide insight into the benefits of journey management and how to plan journeys the way that Risk Management & Close Protection Professionals do..
- Country and Regional assessments (when travelling abroad)
- Hotel Bookings ~ Which rooms provide optimum levels of safety in the event of an accident or terrorist attack and how to secure your hotel room; beyond locking the door.
- Safe Haven's
- Travellers check-lists
- and more.

Ares Travel Safe Training is provided to your staff in-house at your premises or at one of our training locations by arrangement.

Included in the cost of the training are the course materials.
